2 CPD POINTS

Since the first significant planting of vines in 1967, the Margaret River wine region has grown to become regarded as potentially one of the great wine-producing regions of the world. Despite, or perhaps because of its youth when compared to centuries-old wine regions around the world, Margaret River has a vibrant and innovative wine industry that promotes progressive attitudes and trends in viticulture and winemaking. Although the region contributes only 3 per cent of the country 's wine grapes it commands over 20 per cent of today 's premium wine market.

However, it's not all about a glass of good red by the fire. Has the market changed? Will this impact on producers and their advisors and financiers?

All property professionals will benefit from the expertise of the three presenters at this forum.

- Mr Jim Campbell-Clause, Managing Director, AHA Viticulture who will make a presentation on Viticulture establishment costings and market trends
- Mr Mike Calneggia, Managing Director, Australian Wine Holdings who will give us an overview of the Viticulture Industry and goodwill trends
- Mr Brian Moulton, Director, LJ Hooker, Busselton who will talk to us about Real Estate trends in the Viticulture Industry

Panel Discussion—Question time

Presenters will also make themselves available for a panel session at the conclusion of the presentations and will take questions from delegates at this time.
